

The Thinking Environment in Higher Education: A Day of Practice and Discovery

Hello everybody. My name is Kathryn Pogson and I am the Director of Quality at Kirklees College in Huddersfield.

And I'm Lou Mycroft. I work with Katherine here at Kirklees College and I run the National Green Change Makers Programme.

We are going to be inviting you to think about the thing that changes things. How can the Thinking Environment drive momentum for culture and systems change in organisations?

So Lou and I have been working at Kirklees College together for 5 years. Lou supporting the work, me driving the work inside the college, to use the Thinking Environment as a lever for culture change. We've got lots of experience, stories and progress to share with you about the work and how it has impacted our students.

And we are so excited to hear from you. So we'll see you in July in Durham.

Look forward to meeting you then. Bye.
